Judge Porter's hottest fire, and the following Tilton's Friend—"How under the sun do you manage to keep cool and keep your temper while Judge Porter pites up the epithets against you, and shakes his fist in your face?"

Was very rapid, and in the evening in interest tration, where during the forencon representatives of this paper found nothing but water and overflowed residences, the streets had re-appeared to the surface and were resuming original conditions. It was found that the water had overflowed north-east to brief but pithy conversation ensued:

The Tribune this morning editorially reviews the present political situation at some length. It reviews the course of politics since the last Presidential election, and says there is no mistaking the fact that the present situation is that of a party, dominant throughout the nation for fifteen years, re-tiring from power and giving place to its old opponent. The Democratic party is on the rising tide, and the indications are that a political revolution will be con-summated in 1876, and the Democrats come into power in the nation. The Republican party may, however by its course in the next twelve months turn the tide now setting strong against it, reinstate itself in public favor, and hold the country for at least another term. It depends upon the foresight and sagacity of the leaders in the different States. People are watching to see which party does the work of reform

ENGLAND. LONDON, June 4 .- It is stated in well informed circles that war between Great Britain and Burmah is imminent. The Government will shortly propose a confederation of British colonies in South Africa. THE FLOOD.

The Waters Subside—Gleanings from the Wreck. As stated in The News yesterday, after the flood had commenced subsiding, its descent was very rapid, and in the evening, in illusthat the water had overflowed north-east to Hill-side avenue, in addition to the bounda ries given yesterday, and that it had "cut" the old State ditch into a canal of large size through which poured a miniature river, carrying off several of the foot bridges and passage-ways inside the Exposition grounds, this was found immensely advantageous for the overflow northeast,. Vast quantities were also absorbed in the earth, so that to-day, estimating by the "ocean" of yesterday, day, estimating by the "ocean" of yesterday, that section of territory is comparatively dry. The damage to the ice houses near the Michigan road is roughly estimated at $20,000, the greater loss falling upon Harris and Butsch. Part of the stock owned by these gentlemen, and also that of others, was saved, and with new saw dust and heavy banking it is not thought the supply will tall short. But for the constant labor of a tall short. But for the constant labor of a targe gang of men, the levees at this point would have been entirely swept away, and as it is, many of the ice pounds will need an in hense amount of repairing before the hensest of next winter. The Belt railway embankment east of the river, and where it embankment east of the river, and where it connects with the river, was cut squarely off, and as the "fill" at this place is twenty-five feet deep, the repair labor will be difficult and costly.

The rapid rise of Fall Creek Wednesday afternoon is illustrated in the riding of a gentleman along the Allisonville pike. He noticed the water creeping over the banks above, but in no way endangering the pike, but he had not reached the toll gate on the hill this side before the current was running rapidly across beyond the bridge. Beyond a slight washing out and the fall of a few culverts, it is not believed the pike is materially damaged. So rapid came the flood that t drowned some stock belonging to Bob Losey, and also came near destroying two val-uable horses. A North Indianapolis farmer named Hull, returning from the city, was caught by the current on the Michigan road and his horse drowned, himself and family being rescued with dangerous difficulty by Cant. ADDITIONAL RAILWAY NEWS. Two bad breaks were added to the troubles of the Vincennes last night, the back water carrying away the track below Martinsville, and also making serious damage this side, near Centerton; so much so as to necessitate with the election for a third, and whatever abuse he may have been subjected to during the time he has held the Presidency is equally irrelevant. The constitution does exactly know against what they is equally irrelevant. The constitution does not prohibit, and the people are at liberty to elect to a third term, but until the time of President Grant, none of his predecessors trains and transfer at Eagle Creek. The Vandalia was disappointed in not running trains without transfer this morning, the Eagle Creek break being more serious than Major Simpson yesterday supposed. The next twenty hours, however, will see matters righted. The I. B. & W., with commendable energy, have repaired the damage to the track along Eagle Creek, and trains came in on time this morning. The I. & St. L. will have their bridges so near completed term. Johnson believes he will not be re-nominated, or if he is, will hardly receive that passengers will be transported across this evening, instead of making the circuithe vote of a single State. The President tous carriage travel of the present. This seems to regard it as a mere matter of dollars and cents, and Johnson infers that if the company has a bad break in the embank-ment, besides the damaged bridges, but are running day and night forces in repair. The Vandalia embankment stood firm, save a small slice off from one side. To Eagle Creek belongs the "credit" of blockading four roads at one time—Vandalia, I. & St. L., Vincennes, and I. B. & W., and it also gave the I. C. & L. much annoyance. Near the Vandalia break is, or was, a German gardener, with a little garden, worth in its products at least $2,000. The National Temperance Convention at Chicago adjourned yesterday, after passing the following resolution: Resolved, That the time has arrived to more fully consider the relations of the National Government, and its responsibility for the alcoholic liquor traffic, and we hereby ask the Forty-fourth Congress to prohibit the manufacture and sale of all alcoholic beverages in the Distric of Columbia, and in the territories of the United States, and to prohibit their importation from foreign countries, to require total abstinence from all alcoholic beverages on the part of all officers and subordinates of the civil, military and naval services, and to initiate and adopt, for ratification by the several States of the Union, a constitutional amendment which shall make the traffic in alcohol as a beverage illegal throughout our national domain.

The miners' troubles have broken out afresh in Pennsylvania. Large crowds of men from Hazleton and vicinity, who Hazleton the previous night, arrived in Mahoning City yesterday, compelling all to go with them to stop the working miners that had resumed work since Monday last. At the same time a man fired upon the shaft. The firing then became general, the rioters firing a volley on the citizens, who were greatly outnumbered, the miners also having the advantage of being on a hill-side. Two hundred shots were fired both parties. The sheriff, finding himself overpowered, retreated to the town and reorganized his force, the citizens volunteerand every firearm to be found was brought into requisition. He also telegraphed for military aid. The policemen and two citizens were wounded. Eight of the raiders were wounded and carried away, one of them killed. After the firing ceased the raiders formed in line and marched defiantly through the town, headed by music. Is it because the policy holders in a mutual life insurance company have no rights that the officers are bound to respect, that the investigation asked for by the policy holders of the Franklin Life Insurance Company has not been made? Or is it because the Secretary, who elects the Board of Directors, dislikes to have the affairs of the company subjected to the scrutiny of a committee of investigation that owe him no allegiance? Or is it because the condition of the company's affairs is such that the officers are afraid to have it known?

By a paragraph published in the city news it will be seen that an arrangement has been made for the completion of Woodruff Place according to the original plans. This requires the sale of fifty lots on terms which seem very reasonable. A number have already been taken. This work has been of very great advantage to the city, it has been talked about far and wide, and if completed will be a very valuable feature. The whole public is interested in it. The location of the Place and the grand scale upon which it was planned have done a great deal towards advancing the price of property in the eastern part of the city, and its completion will maintain the prices, if it does not advance them further. As a help and credit to the city the Place should be completed and there are certainly enough willing and enterprising citizens here to aid in the work, especially when there is no chance of losing by it.

THE New York Herald is offended with the Vice-President's jaunt over the country and really speaks unkindly of him after this fashion:

There must be some very profound meaning in the journeyings and sojournings Henry Wilson. He is like the wind which bloweth where it listeth and no man knows whence it cometh or whither it goeth. whence it cometh or whither it goeth. A fortnight ago he was at the death-bed of Breckinridge. A week later he was in Tennessee and Arkansas. At last accounts he was at Leavenworth, Kansas, and we are told he even consented to become the guest of Senator Caldwell. Why all this uneasy going from State to State and town to town Why this consorting with all sorts of people? Why those oracular speeches uttered in private but intended for the public? Clearly Mr. Wilson has made up his mind to get well and become a candidate for the Presidency. He would scarcely go to all this bother unless he had some such design upon his admiring countrymen. Indeed, we shall not forgive him on any other terms. If Henry Wilson is not a Presidential candidate he has no business to be going up and down the country, sitting by the dying Breckinridge, bowing with all his native dignity and urbanity to Mrs. Jeffer-son Davis and disturbing all his countrymen and country women of their rest. There is no occasion for such surmising. Of course he is a candidate and has been might be achieved than that which freezes for twenty years. But he will have to con- it to death, burns it to death, starves it to

But it has not been unexpected by sooner or later, two hundred thousand or some who, knowing the topography of the ten millions of years hence, will burn itself city and surrounding country, the levels of out, and then the earth and all the planets the various localities and the old courses must freeze. It will be a pretty serious of the streams during freshets, thought a change for us, who at ninety millions of repetition of the old flood of 1847 might miles are right at the corner of the fire be seen some day, notwithstanding the place, as it were, but it can't make much changes which have occurred. There is no reason why there may not be such further away. The sun is little warmer or another, or even more disastrous flood next | brighter than a big star to Uranus and year, or the year after. Indeed, there is certain to be if such a heavy fall of rain comes again. No matter how the stream may dwindle away or the country become improved, such a rain-fall will fill it bankfull and over. Manifestly, then, it is the part of wisdom to be prepared. Had been wisdom in the the city would been prepared for this one. The main body of water came according to general testimony from Fall Creek above the Howland farm, breaking over the banks there and getting into an old bayou, thence emptying into the old Fletcher swamp in the car works addition and beyond Engineer J. W. Brown says that a dike built at this point, as was urged several years ago, would have saved the city in all probability. The point should be guarded and the State ditch should be kept clear to afford an outlet, if the water does come. Much of the trouble is due to carelessness below, as well as the neglect of leaving such place open above. The culvert ditch the at the fair grounds was not large enough, and an eve witness says the water above it was at least two feet higher than below. The new outlet for the creek near the Michigan street bridge is also thought to have impeded the flow of water and the

THE loss of the city advertising seems to nuch for The News to bear. Indeed, i eems determined not to give up the job, and s publishing the city advertising still, al-hough its contract for the work has expired. The News certainly has no authority for the publication, and the Sentinel merely replie o its neighbor's ugly epithets with the remark that it never attempted any such piece of sneak thievery, and never will. The City Clerk has been notified by a member of the Printing Committee that a contract been made with the Sentinel, but the Clerk ontinues to hand the work to The News, and The News continues to accept it, logical reasoning that a majority of the Printing committee, and a contract, are not sufficien to give the work to the Sentinel, but that that the favor of the Clerk, and no contract at all, are sufficient to give it to The News .-Sentinel, and County Commissioners should act at

We are unable to tell which is the great est, the impudence or the ignorance of the Sentinel. Still assuming that its private agreement made with a majority of the committee gives it the city printing, it now accuses The News of stealing its work. Such sublime assurance should not go unrewarded, and if combined with even a modicum of honesty ought to achieve great success. But it is our painful duty to inform it that The News has a contract with the city, which was made not by a committee, but by the Council, and for a term of one year. Whenever a successor is duly elected and the term has expired The News will cheerfully give up the small amount which seems of such vast importance and necessity to the Sentinel. It intends, however, to complete its contract, which had not expired at the date of the last advercontrary notwithstanding. When that done we shall be pleased to see the Sentinel get the work, but we want to see it done fairly and openly. If a committee has the right to make contracts of all kinds, the Council as a body s pretty well shorn of power. The committees can do everything. The Sentinel quotes from the general ordinance fixing the duties of committees to show that the Printing Committee has the right to fix the prices and numbers of advertisements. but there is nothing in that ordinance which says the committee shall choose the printer, and unless authorized by the Council to make a specific contract, it cannot do so. The precedent the Sentinel is trying to justify is a bad one, and may be injurious in the future. No one grudges the Sentinel the work. The prices are reasonable, but it is the method by which they are fixed we object to. The secret, sneaking manner in which it is done savors of trickery and shystering, and a paper professing so much honor as the Sentinel does, ought to be ashamed of its part in the business.

THE END.

It is quite funny, in spite of the terrific character of the subject, to think of the variety of ways in which science, or scientists rather, propose to bring our world to its death and dissolve

"Its cloud capped towers, its gorgeous palaces Its solemn temples" and other things of more or less value deposited in it. It is true one can hardly expect theorists to agree about anything much better than religionists, no two of whom ever did agree throughout on all points of history and faith, but then it can not be unreasonable to think that some better diagnosis of our planetary diseases difference to our bigger brothers who are Neptune, and if it should go out they would feel the change about as an Esquimany does when the weather makes him eat ten pounds of blubber at a meal instead of eight, and pull his fur hood clear over his head instead of down to the tips of his ears. Well, the sun is to burn itself up as the ambitious lightning bug burned his have tail, and leave the world to freeze on the ashes savs that the orbit of the earth is vefv slightly contracting and in a few millions of years, precisely, it will contract so far that our year won't be longer than Mercury's and that means, of course, getting as close to the sun as Mercury; and that means combustion, a holocaust of all our thirteen hundred millions of people and as many more as may be added during the time we are getting down to that point; and finally an evaporation or dissipation of the whole planet, by the intense heat, into the primordial fire mist or "in-"candescent vapor," to speak scientifically, out of which the earth and all the planets were formed. By way of compromising these conflicting modes of wiping us out of the universe, Prof. Winchell enters and says that the denudation of the earth's soil, caused constantly and extensively by our rivers, must in a few millions of years, more or less, completely strip the rocks and leave us nothing to live on. That don't end the world, to be sure, but it will be very likely to end the people, and when it does they won't care much whether the world remains or not. This is the starvation catastrophe. Now the Dr. Reverend. Right Cox insists that we are to die like Judas, by the bursting of our abdominal cavity and the flood of internal fire and lava that will pour out of the gap. A French philosopher, however, provides for putting all the fire out by so accumulating ice around the South Pole as to compel a reversal of the earth's inclination to the elliptic, and in turning over the water of the oceans, must change its location, and the effect of which will be much such another freshet as Noah launched the first "broad horn" in. Still another theory is the exact contrary of Prof. Proctor's. It is that our orbit is expanding slowly, and in vear will be as long as Jupiter's, Neptune's, what will happen, wnether we shall freeze, burn, starve, or drown. It would be satisfactory to all intelligent men if these doctors could, or would tell us what is the matter with the earth, and what she is likely to die of finally.

But here comes in Prof. Proctor and

Witch Superstition in Newport, Ky. [Newport news in Cincinnati Commercial.]

For the past three or four weeks a German living on South Front street, has been bothered, as he says, with witches, who have infested his bed and proubled him so that he could not sleep on it. He tried it three or four times with the same success, and invariably had to resort to a lounge for rest. Finally his wife concluded to unravel the mystery by ripping open the feather tick to see what was inside, when she found in the middle a feather wreath about an inch thick. and another one partially completed. She immediately informed the priest of her church, who told her that she must boil the wreaths and then burn them, and that the person placing them there would have to come to their house and the witches would then disappear. She did so, and while the feathers were being burned a female relative of the bewitched German, who had not spoken to him for six years, appeared on the scene, became very sociable, and wanted to borrow his horse and buggy. This was at once proof positive that the priest had prected truthfully, and that he was possessed ifestations of witches in his house

WOODRUFF PLACE.

The Plan Devised for its Completion-Fifty Helpers Needed.

Mr. James O. Woodruff, the enterprising originator of the Woodruff Place idea, has ucceeded in making an arrangement by which the property will be improved according to the plans, and if his proposal meets with the favor it deserves, another year will see the work accomplished. For this the sale of fifty lots is necessary. If hat number can be disposed of means will be forthcoming to finish the Place. Mr. Woodruff proposes to sell these lots at very ow figures, sixty dollars a foot, which in comparison with property upon streets equal-y well improved and at nearly the same listance from the center, is considered by good judges a very reasonable price. If the property is improved it will be worth more. if it is not the lots are not taken. The terms are very easy, long time being given. The contract made is as follows:

I. The purchaser of each lot is to pay to Haron Woodruff for the same $4,800, as fo lows Assume incumbrance on said lot, consisting of two mortgage bonds, and interest from January of $1,000 each dated July 20 18.4 navabl the .0th day of July, 1879, with semi-annual inter-

ANOTHER SAM PATCH.

Miraculous Escape-A Trout Fisherman Goes Over a Fall Eighty Feet High.

[Milford (Del.) Cor. Phila. Times.] Thomas L. Atkins, a gentleman from New Jersey, has for the past few days been stop ping at Dingman's Ferry for the purpose of fishing the numerous trout streams in that Young hoodlums, aping Virginia avenue vicinity. On Saturday morning last he characteristics clustered in the upper gallery of the Academy last night, and with cat-calls Adams, a stream some two miles this side of Dingman's, and one of the hardest and most dangerous streams to fish of any in this country. This creek is about eight miles in length, and on either hand rises a perpendicular and almost unbroken wall of rock, while in a number of places the stream pours over falls from fifty to one hundred and fifty feet high. Taking an old wood road at the foot of the mountain, he bent his steps for a point about a mile above the "High Falls," with the intention of "striking in" at that point, and fishing through to the Dingman road. Arriving at his destination, about two hours' fishing brought him to the head of the falls, where he sat down to rest him-self and eat his lunch. At this place there are several falls in close proximity to one another, the upper one, the highest on the stream, being one hundred and fifty feet, and the others gradually lessening in height until they reached the level creek bed below. In the intervening space between each of these falls there is a dark foaming pool worn into the solid rock by the constantly falling water, and some of which are very deep. After refreshing himself, Mr. Atkins arose with the intention of fishing on through the falls, but after looking about him he wisely concluded to pass around them and find a place where he could deepend more easily Gathering up his rod, he proceeded down the creek, being very careful to keep back from the face of the rocks. He had gone but a short distance down the stream when he discovered a little gully or ravine leading between high tiers of rocks down towards the creek. Thinking that he was below the falls and might not find another place where he could descend so easily, he commenced climbing down, and by clinging to the laurels which grow along the sides succeeded in reaching the bottom of the ravine in safety. Here, however, he was disappointed, for thinking that he was below the falls, he found himself instead upon a level path of solid rock, about three feet wide, and below him some twenty feet, in a great basin-shaped hole worn in the rock and filed with dark, foamy water, was what is called "The Devtl's Punch-bowl," and a little further down the stream was another fall. Not liking to climb back up the steep ravine, he concluded to follow the path in which he stood, hoping it might lead him below the falls and out of his present diffi-culty. In this he was terribly mistaken, for after following it a short distance he discovered to his horror that it came to an abrupt termination directly over the falls. As Mr. Atkings glanced over into the chasm an indescribable terror crept over him that seemed to chill the marrow in his bones, and calling to mind the extreme peril in which he stood, he endeavored to shake off the vague fear which held him spell-bound, and turned to retrace his steps. The rocks al through these falls are kept wet and against them by the force of the fall-ing water, and as Mr. Atkins was in the act Net deferred quarter-ly and semi-annual Premiums...... of turning (whether by dizziness or some other cause) he lost his balance, and in en deavoring to recover himself he slipped and fell. caught hold of the projecting rock upon which he had been standing, and clung to it with the tenacity of a drowning man. While clinging to the rock he endeavored to find a foothold, and by that means help himself up or hang on until help came, but he found none, and, as if to add to the agony of the moment, his hands kept gradually slipping from their hold. Driven almost crazy with terror, he turned his head and looked down into the foaming waters of the pool, full 80 feet beneath him, and, with a prayer to. Heaven for mercy, his hold relaxed, and he fell backward and disappeared, feet first, into the seething waters. He soon reappeared, and, concentrating all his remaining strength, he succeeded in reaching the shore and crawling a few feet up the bank, when his strength gave way and he fell into a dead swoon. It was some time before he came to his senses, and when he did he was so much exhausted that it was some time before he could proceed. He finally succeeded in reaching the Dingman road, where he was

ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL.

It: Dedication as the Cathedral Church of the Diocese,

With Interesting and Imposing Services.

The formal consecration of St. Paul's Cathedral occurred to-day at the church edifice, on North Illinois street, the services being of an interesting and imposing character. The interior of the Cathedral was elab: orately decorated with evergreens and deli cate flowers, and presented a most beautiful appearance, exceeding in elegance and tasteful arrangement anything heretofore attempted in the city. Before these were entirely in place the audience began to assem-ble. The exercises, which were necessarily quite protracted, began at 19:30 A. M., and $1, at Chambers's Fancy Bazaar. were attended upon by many prominent clergy from this and other States. Excellent music was rendered by the choir, and everything conspired to make the occasion a pleasant one to all who participated. Promptly at the hour named the Bishop was received at the entrance of the church by the church Wardens and Vestrymen, af ter which they proceeded up the aisle of the church to the communion table, repeat-ing the 24th Psalm alternately, the Bishop one verse and the clergy another. The Instrument of donation was then read by Wm. H Morrison, Senior Warden, setting forth the financial status of the Cathedral and ten-dering it for the purpose of consecration. The Bishop then addressed the congregation as follows: as follows:

Dearly Beloved in the Lord, forasmuch as devout and holy men, as well under the Law as under the Go-pel, moved either by the express command of God or by the eccret inspiration of the bi-ssed spirit and acting agreeably to their own reason and sense of the natural decency of things have enceted houses for the public worship of God and sep-rated them from all unhallowed, worldly and common uses in order to fill men's minds with greater reverence for his glorious Majesty and affect their hearts with more devotion and humanity in his service, which pious works have been approved of and generous accepted by our Heavenly Father. Let us not doubt once that He will also favorably approve our godly purpose of setting apart this place in solemn manner. for the perapart this place in solemn manner, for the per-formance of the several offices of religious worship and let us fa thfully and devotedly beg. His blessing in this our undertaking.

read by Rev. E. R. Bishop, and is as follows:

"In the name of God, amen. Whereas, the Wardens and Vestrymen of St. Paul's Cathedral church, of Indianapolis, in the State and Diorese of Indiana, by the good providence of Almighty God, have erected in said city a house of worship for the honor of the Divine Majesty; and whereas, the said Wardens and Vestrymen, by a certain instrument of donation this day presented to us, have duly certified us that the said building and the ground on which it stands, are free from lien or other incumbrance and secured from the danger of alienation from those who profess and practice the doctrines, discipline and Worship of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America; and whereas the said Warden and Vestrymen for them-elves and their successors in office have also, by said instrument of donation, requested us to take the said building under our spiritual jurisdiction and that of our successors in office, and consecrete the same building under our spiritual jurisdiction and that of our successors in office, and consecrete the same building under our spiritual jurisdiction and that of our successors in office, and consecrete the same but the new condition of the Panis. read by Rev. E. R. Bishop, and is as follows: on and that of our successors in office, and conse rate the same by the name and title of St. Paul' crate the same by the name and this of s. Faul s. emnly dedicating it to the worship and services of Almighty God, the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost, and by a consecration in communion with the Protestant Episcopal church in the Inited States, and in union with the Convention thereof in the Diocese of Indiana. Now, there-fore, know all men that we, Joseph C. Talbott D. D. LL. D., cantab by Divine permission, Bishop of the Diocese of Indiana, in accordance with the request herein before mentioned, and with the of the Diocese of Indiana, in accordance with the request herein before mentioned, and with the terms of the said in-trument of donation do hereby accept and take the said house of worship under our spiritual jurisdiction as Bishop aforesaid, and that of our successors in office, and in form and manner, as prescribed and used by the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States of America do consecrate and have consecrated the same by the name and title of St. Paul's Cathedral thereby separating it henceforth from all unhallowed worlds and com-

In testimony whereof we have hereunto set our land and affixed our Episcopal seal at Indianapois, this 4th day of June, in the year of our Lord, 875, and of our consecration the sixteenth.

(Signed) Jos. C. Talbott,
Bishop of Indiana.

At the conclusion of the reading of this ocument, the Bishop responded: "Blessed be Thy name, O Lord, that it hath sleased Thee to put it into the hearts of Thy serants to appropriate and devote this house to Thy nonce and worship, and grant that all who shall njoy the benefit of this pious work, may show orth their thankfulness by making a right use of to the glory of Thy blessed name through Jestical Park of the State of t to the glory of Thy blessed name, through Je s Christ our Lord. Amen."

Morning prayer then followed, which was participated in and observed as follows: Morning Prayer to Psalter, Rev. C. C. Tate. Psalter, 8th selection, chantel. First lesson, lst Kings, viii, 22 to 63, Rev. J. Gierlow. Second lesson, Hebrews, x. 19 to 26, Rev. W. forgus Creed and prayer, Dr. Fulton.

The consecration sermon then followed by r. J. H. Hopkins, of Albany, who took for his subject Titus, 1st chapter, 5th verse: "For this cause left I thee in Crete, that thou houldest set in order the things that are wanting and ordain elders in every city, as had appointed thee." The services were concluded by observance of the sacrament and the audience dismissed with the benediction.

Fire The fire shortly before noon to-day was in the double frame tenement, 67 and 69 Ma-otte avenue, owned by John A. Childs and occupied by the families of J. J. Wheat and Peter Allaire. It originated from a detective flue, and the damage, principally to the roof, will not exceed $500, which is covered by insurance in the Franklin. The household goods of both families were safely removed, and the promptness of the Fire Department boys prevented the spread of the fire to the

THE DECORATIONS AT ST. PAUL'S. The exquisite decorations at St. Paul's athedral to-day, which were so much admired, were from the Exposition Floral Gar-dens, which have in less than a year taken the lead in floral decorations in the city. When anything tasteful and elegant is needed, either in growing plants or made ornaments this is the place to get it. All the leading novelties, as well as old favorites, are here grown in perfection, and floral designs of the most elaborate pattern or in the simplest style are there made in the most tasteful and elegant manner. Visitors reach within a short distance of the grounds by the Pennsylvania and Illinois street cars.

The popular nine per cent, loan being made by E. B. Martindale for George P. Bissell & Co., of Hartford, may now be had in sums of $3,000 up. The loan may run for ten years, or may be paid in $1,000 installments at any time. The security required is unencumbered city property worth double the amount of loan in any of the leading cities of the State. The interest is payable at the end of each six months. Persons desiring to build may obtain one-half the value of property including improvements. No life insurance required, and no red tape.

PHENIX, R. I, March 27, 1875.

GENTLEMEN—We have now had the Type-Writer about a month, and are entirely satisfied with it. There can be no doubt in regard to its usefulness. When I saw the advertisement of the machine originally. I had little faith in it. An examination surprised me, but not so much as the practical working has. We have no trouble whatever in working it, and it is almost constantly in operation. I working has. We have no trouble whatever in the century. Wery truly yours, think that it must rank among the great inventions of the century. Very truly yours, HENRY HOWARD.
